

As a citizen and resident of a community, I feel that the mega-media conglomerates on public airwaves are eliminating access to local information and needs as they centralize their corporate profits and concentrate their political/economic/cultural views. We consumers are becoming more and more subject to less wide range and varied information, but focused deliberate financed propaganda whether it be news or advertising. As the regulating body and representative of the public, your responsibility lies in providing greater democracy and not just corporate take-over of public access to news, weather, politics, and entertainment.
